Purpose and licensing: The luVRe database is freely available for researchers at degree-granting institutions for non-profit (psychological) research only. It is prohibited to display, further distribute or make the content available to other companies or organizations. Please respect the privacy rights of the depicted persons, who have exclusively agreed to non-commercial scientific use of the luVRe materials.

Statement of Use: I agree that I use the database exclusively for non-profit scientific purposes. I will only allow access to the database to those who are directly involved in the scientific study, including subjects. I will not distribute the database, this means in particular but not exclusively the distribution in TV, online or print media. I will not publish material from the database in scientific journals. I will not make the download link available to unauthorized persons.
